

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1886.

TERMS OF THE NEWS AND HERALD.—The weekly edition, four dollars per annum, in advance. Weekly edition, two dollars per annum in advance; two dollars and fifty cents per annum, if not paid in advance.

WE WISH TO—McCarley & Co. It will pay you—D. A. Hendrix. $100 Reward—L. N. Withers, Clerk. The New York Star. Clerk's Sale—W. H. Kerr, Clerk.

LOCAL BRIEFS.—Only one week until Court. Tanners are employed finishing up the work on the town clock steeple. A number of stock were sold in front of the Court House on Saturday. The south-bound train was a little more than two hours late on Sunday afternoon.

—Mr. R. H. Miller and wife, of Shelby, N. C., are visiting friends and relatives in town. —Messrs. Groeschel & Co., have moved into their new saloon one door south of Dr. Aiken's drug store. —It is not usual as was here on Monday.

—Mr. Paul Hemphill, of the Chester bar, was in town on professional business on Wednesday. —Woman is not much of a philosopher, but she is proverbially a clothes observer. —The Prince of Wales is growing gray. At least that is what is said about the heir apparent.

—Judge Albion W. Tourgee has patented a metal harness. Intended for mettlesome steeds, probably. —The evil consequences of smoking are illustrated by Mr. Vesuvius, which constantly suffers from eruptions. —Each Congressman gets this year 6,500 packages of vegetable seeds, besides 500 packages of flower seeds.

—Feasterville Grange was represented at the meeting in Charleston by M. D. C. Colvin and D. R. Feaster. —Elizabeth Stuart Phelps has written a new serial entitled "Burglars in Paradise." The gates must have been ajar again. —We have one more cold spell. Everything was frozen yesterday—type, presses, ink, millage, printers, editors and—the Devil.

—Twenty-two prisoners are in jail, and a number of others out on bond, awaiting trial at the next term of the Court. —The best Family Sewing Machine on the market. A guarantee with every machine. For sale only by J. O. Boag. —Very little guano, we are informed, has been sold in town this season. Our farmers we suppose are going to try and economize on that score.

—Mr. Moody, the "evangelist," will hold meetings in Charleston and Columbia soon. Mr. Moody's evangelism seems to be profitable. —We learn from one of our farmers that in sections of the country from which the negroes left for Arkansas, hands are quite scarce as a consequence. —A rabbit's foot was found in the pocket of one of our representatives a few days ago. We suppose it was carried for good luck in the next campaign.

—Read the new advertisement of McCarley & Co. If you want a good chew, try their Ogburn's best and be satisfied. All kinds of first-class fresh groceries always on hand. —For the benefit and information of the public we would state that the office of the Auditor, Mr. Withers, is located in the new building just in rear of Law Range. —Have your blank liens printed at THE NEWS AND HERALD office. We have forms specially prepared to meet the changes recently made in the law. —A society paper says "that several recently married people are now said to be repenting at leisure." That item could be kept in type the year round in any large city.

—No stenographer has been appointed for the Sixth Circuit under the recent Act, giving one to those circuits which have not already been provided for. —The committee appointed by the grand jury at the last term of the Court to examine the books of the County Commissioners, commenced their work on Monday. —Shoes, Clothing, Dress Goods, Calicoes, Jerseys, Ladies' Felt and Straw Hats, and other goods at and below cost for the cash. I mean what I say. J. O. Boag.

—Sheriff Hood, of Chester, went before Chief Justice Simpson last week and was admitted to bail in the sum of five hundred dollars, to await trial for the killing of a prisoner while trying to escape from the Chester Jail. —Carpenters are at work on the room recently occupied as a barber shop just south of the store of McCarley & Co. A handsome front will be placed to the building, together with other improvements, and when completed we are informed will be occupied by Mr. F. Bolit.

—Now is time to get a good Cincinnati Open or Top Buggy, Three-Spring Wagon, Turnout Seat Buggy, Platform Spring or Farmer's Wagon, with shafts or pole, Single or Double Harness, cheap for cash or bankable paper, from J. O. Boag. —Some of our farmers seem discouraged with the prospects for another crop. They tell us that early in the fall every one said "so-so." Acting under this advice a large crop was put in and in most cases killed by the late weather. It is not too late yet to take a fine oat crop and every farmer who takes his value when corn gets dry during the summer, and has to be brought on lien prices. —We were in error in our recent statement that at the meeting of the citizens to hear the report of the building committee, which were to get up plans for the new college building that they were instructed to get up further plans. All of the plans were considered good and the committee were instructed to calculate the costs of each plan submit their report at another meeting. A contractor from Charlotte was in town on Tuesday looking at the site with a view to bidding on the job.

AN ASSIGNMENT.—Mr. W. M. Propst made an assignment of all his property on Monday to Mr. G. W. Buchanan, for the benefit of his creditors. Liabilities about $800; assets about $500.

COURT.—A number of gentlemen came into town on Monday believing that Court would convene on that day. The recent Act of the Legislature changed the time of holding the Court from the second to the third Monday of February. It will also change the June and September terms just one week later.

MUCH NEEDED SIGNS.—The County Commissioners have had neatly painted signs placed on the doors of each of the county offices. Heretofore a stranger could not tell which office to enter in case a certain official was wanted, and it was consequently a great inconvenience. The board will have the thanks of the public for this improvement.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS.—Our reference in an issue last week to the killing of "so-cats," and upon which our esteemed contemporary, the Register, makes some comments, is hardly worse than one of its own advertisements last fall, which was headed "cats for sale." We learned after reading the advertisement that they were sold by the bushel. Our farmers must have invested from the advertisement of the Register.

DEATH OF MRS. R. M. WOODWARD.—We are pained to announce the death of Mrs. Rebecca M. Woodward, which occurred at the residence of Mrs. Andrew Mobley, of this county on Saturday last at 5 o'clock, p. m. Mrs. W. was the daughter of the late Hon. Edward P. Pearson, a prominent lawyer of the Winsboro bar about fifty years ago, and granddaughter of the Rev. Samuel Whortier Yongue, the first pastor of the Presbyterian Church at this place. She was also the wife of Judge Jno. J. Woodward, of Talladega, Alabama, who lost his life in the late war at the battle of Gaines's Mill. She died of pneumonia, in the seventy-second year of her age. Her remains were brought down on the freight train on Monday and interred by the side of her husband in the Presbyterian graveyard, where lie at rest many of her relatives of a generation ago. Peace to her ashes.

THE SKIES IN FEBRUARY.—The present month does not fail to present objects of interest to lovers of the stars. The three planets Venus, Jupiter and Saturn, play prominent parts in our starry records. Venus, after her superb career as evening star, disappears from the western sky only to reappear before the month closes "under the opening eyelids of the morn." Saturn is on the meridian before 10 o'clock in the evening when the mouth commences, and after that time is beautiful to behold as he pursues his westward course among the stars. Jupiter is superbly brilliant as he makes his advent in the eastern sky about the time that Saturn reaches the meridian, rises majestically toward the zenith, and holds the sceptre of the skies as Saturn sinks out of sight. While Venus passes inferior conjunction, Mercury flits round superior conjunction, thus illustrating two important epochs in the movements of the inferior planets. The moon is not to be outdone by her superiors in the order of creation, and contributes her share to the entertainment of the month by occulting the planets Jupiter and Uranus and the bright star Aldebaran for observers on some portions of the earth's surface. The February full moon will be lovely as she runs high in the heavens, floods the frost-bound earth with silvery light, or casts blue shadows over its snow-covered landscape. Thus planets, moon and stars unite in furnishing material for those who watch the course of the wondrous orbs that darkness reveals to admiring eyes.

ITEMS FROM WHITE OAK.—Our merchants have bought seven hundred bales of cotton this season. Miss Hattie Hauer, of Yorkville, is visiting friends and relatives in this neighborhood. Thirty-eight pupils are now attending the White Oak Academy. Mr. John R. Patrick has a flour mill in the course of construction. He expects to have it ready for work by the middle of March. The White Oak Reading Club has gone "where the woodbine twines and the whang-doodle mourneth." Nunc composita, placida pace quiescit. Several of our farmers have secured tobacco seed and will experiment with the "weed" this year. Experienced farmers say that it will be impossible to estimate the damage done to the small grain crops by the two recent cold waves until the weather turns warmer. Winsboro lawyers are superstitious—at least one of them (a member of the Legislature) is. He dropped his "rabbit foot" in Vinson & Co.'s store the other day. It was returned to him the next day and he was "howling" glad to get it. PHLO.

—You are not old, yet your hair is getting thin. Your friends remark it, your wife regrets it. Parker's Hair Balsam will stop this waste, save your hair and restore the original gloss and color. Exceptionally clean, prevents dandruff, a perfect dressing.

very favorable commented upon; now that it has been shown where the responsibility rests it is hoped that some pressure will be brought to bear on the Boards which will cause them to make a more just distribution of the same.

ITEMS FROM BLYTHEWOOD.—Since our last item nothing of importance has transpired in this vicinity. Last Sunday and Monday were two very gloomy, dismal days. It appears that we are destined to have more hard weather this winter than usual. Some farmers report their entire crop of oats ruined by the late frozes—others, that they are willing to take what they sowed for their, could they have an opportunity of doing so. Fears are also entertained by some that the wheat crop is injured. If their prediction be true, after two successive short cotton crops, we must confess, that the farmer, who is the backbone of the country is very unfortunate. On Friday the 22nd ult., the still belonging to Mr. W. D. Stack, run by Mr. T. C. Edwards, one mile west of this place, was burned with about thirty-five barrels of rosin. On the plantation of Mr. M. Harmon an out house was consumed by fire last week. Some excitement was caused, but as there was nothing of much value in the house, the loss was small. The supposition is that it caught from a cabin near that was occupied by negroes. Everything on Cedar Creek I believe is quiet. The cry in that section is just about the same that it is in several others—their oats are killed and wheat badly damaged. Notwithstanding the cold weather and financial depressions, the Pine Grove people are going ahead with their new church. The benches have been made, and we understand the carpenters will at an early day complete his work, save ceiling overhead, by putting in the pulpit. By the way we notice that Mr. T. C. Leitner is busily engaged in building. He is erecting some snug little houses on his mother's premises. One we noticed particularly, he said was for a few house, but it looked rather large. As Tom has been going down on Cedar Creek very often of late, probably he is going into the poultry business. As we are giving you the news from this section, permit us to say that Mr. T. M. Dunlap, who is a thrifty and industrious farmer in this section, has become some hogs, the following is their weights, one weighing five hundred and seventy-five pounds. He also has some pigs that were twelve months old, the largest of which weighed two hundred and eighty-one pounds.

NOTES FROM MONTICELLO.—Messrs. Editors: Although I promised you a letter from this section some time ago, everything is so dull and news so scarce that I have been afraid to undertake the writing of a news letter. It will scarcely be news to say that the grain has all been killed, but "true it is, and pity 'tis, 'tis true." There was a good acreage of wheat and oats put in, but the hard frozes of the winter have frozen out the entire crop. The change in the lien law has hastened the coming of the day of settlement. It stole upon the people like a thief in the night and they are not prepared to pay up. Our people have ventured "Like little wanton boys who swim on bladders. But many summers on a sea of credit, But far beyond their depth: The high-blown pride has at length burst under them, Leaving them weary and poor, to the mercy. Of a rude stream which will for a long time hide the m. Oh! how wretched is that poor man who hangs on merchant's favors. There is betwixt that snail we would aspire to. That sweet aspect of merchant's and our ruin. More pangs and fears than wars or woe have." The lien law, by giving a fictitious credit to be made good out of a fictitious crop, has encouraged ignorant buyers to incur a load of debt which it will take years to remove from their shoulders. The giving of credit to any man beyond reasonable limits is a double curse—it curses him that gives and him that receives. The lien law, in its uses and abuses, gives such credit, besides divorcing labor from that intelligence necessary to direct and control it. The Legislature which has so recently adjourned has been cursed and reviled in terms worse than any body of the kind which has met since the days of Radcliffe, and principally on account of their action in regards the lien law. We think they did make a mistake in not wiping it out entirely, but the supporters of it made a hard fight; and we should be content with the little that has been done and hope for better luck next time. The farmers of a country are called the bone and sinew of the country, and they well deserve this name when by their labor they furnish the articles necessary to support life. Every man should aim to be enough to support himself and his family and all that he raises over and above the amount necessary for these wants should give him his income. Our people have lost sight of this end and have allowed their plantings operations to be governed by the fluctuations of the cotton market. Like a desperate gambler who ventures his all on the turn of a card in the hope of recouping his fortune, they have devoted all their time and attention to the making of cotton, but they see that they have been playing a losing game, and now in their despair they turn on their law-makers who by the repeal of a law, which encouraged them in their downward course sought to stop them. Still the repeal of the law, by forcing the day of settlement, has caused a good deal of suffering and this will be a hard year. But the people are very little worse off than they were after Sherman's raid, when it was necessary for a crowd to bring his rations under his wing when he came into this part of the world. There is much discontent among the negroes, and a few miles above this point numbers have gone to Arkansas, though from this neighborhood only a few have left. The negro shot by Mr. Free is improving rapidly. The wound was not as severe as was first supposed. The political pulse is scarcely perceptible in this section. The voters of this district have done away with the special tax for the support of the Monticello School. The letter of Mr. Douglass has been very favorable commented upon; now that it has been shown where the responsibility rests it is hoped that some pressure will be brought to bear on the Boards which will cause them to make a more just distribution of the same.

THE ISOME little feeling in this part of the world antagonistic to the Administration, but it has not developed into anything which would lead to a break in the ranks to follow even "an agricultural Moses" who was seeking political office. A. T. Monticello, February 6, 1886.
